Title: Notes 1

Author: Lenora of Yew

The Gatekeeper... A subject of great philosophy. Does he think? Does he feel? Does he make decisions? Or is he simply a function of the world, an output rather than an active? Orike Munra says he does think and make decisions. 'The gatekeeper is not dead... It is not alive either. I have seen the keeper in its corporeal form... once for a moment. Valtos did that, I believe. Avoid him if possible (Valtos).' Of Queen Sara, he asked, 'Do you think she is in league with Valtos?' I replied, 'It is always possible that villains work in tandem, if it serves their own ends.'
